

Mobile learning: Now and the Future

28th September 2011

Presented by

The West London Lifelong Learning Network & CNWL

12:30-4:00 at College of North West London, Dudden Hill Lane, London, NW10 2XD

Overview:

This symposium will focus on Mobile Learning in Further and Higher Education. Presenters will survey current practice, and look to the future, as providers come to terms with teaching and learning in the digital age, and with ubiquitous use of handheld devices in a connected world. Many Universities and Colleges are already exploring these capabilities, and looking to move forward with Mobile Learning. This event will facilitate networking opportunities, and enable practitioners, researchers, managers and policy-makers to explore and reflect on current and future practice.

Objectives:

- To look at where we are and what's in store for mobile learning
- To demonstrate new mobile learning ideas and techniques and support practitioners in the use of technologies
- To examine the use of smartphones and games consoles in education, looking at educational apps for iPhone/iPad and other platforms
- To increase confidence in converting resources for mobile handheld device
- To share experiences of mobile learning and learn more about CNWL's recent mobile learning project

The Event is aimed at:

- Managers with strategic responsibility
- E-Learning / ILT lead practitioners
- Heads of Teaching and Learning
- Learning technologists
- Learning Resources/Library staff
- Lecturers
- Researchers

The event is FREE to attend, but participants must register in advance with mobile.learning@cnwl.ac.uk by 14th September 2011

More information: