

Three Minute Wonder

Science communication competition

Three Minute Wonder is IOP's UK and Ireland-wide science communication competition.

It challenges researchers or project team members to explain their work to the public in just three minutes. Participants work in physics or physics-related fields in academia, business and/or industry. The aim is to bring cutting edge physics-related research to life for the general public.

Who will take part?

Three Minute Wonder is designed for early career researchers and/or project team members, presenting their own work.

“Educational, inspiring and entertaining all at once.”

London and the South East Heat

Location: IOP, Caledonian Rd, Kings Cross, London

Date: Wednesday 10 April 2024

Time: 6pm - 9pm

Prize: 1st and 2nd place prizes. Winner to compete again in the Grand Final at Royal Institution, London, 29th May 2024, 6pm

“Three minutes! What can you do?”

More information about heats, competition criteria and entry details can be found at iop.org/3MW

iop.org

Registered Charity no. 293851 (England & Wales)
and SC040092 (Scotland)

IOP Institute of Physics
London and South East