

the Oxford Scientist

Should we focus on fixing our planet or move to a new one?

If you have an answer to this question, we want to hear it! Send us your thoughts as a 700-word essay and you're in with a chance of having your piece published in The Oxford Scientist and winning a prize.

You can take your essay in any way you want...

What are the problems we most need to fix? What are the best solutions currently available? Or do you have a new solution? Should we use the resources we have on Earth or look for better ones elsewhere? Do we need to answer this questions within a certain time frame? What solutions have been or could be found outside our planet?

This competition is open to all UK students in years 10-13 (or equivalent).

The deadline for essay submissions is Friday 24th January. For more information and FAQs, please go to our website oxsci.org or email competition@oxsci.org

If your school, sixth form or college would like to subscribe to The Oxford Scientist please contact editor@oxsci.org