

Leeds Emergency Medicine Research Group

Reforming Emergency Care: Delivering on the Challenges Set.

Tuesday September 17th 2002
at the Medical School, University of Leeds

'A unique opportunity to discover how health services are developing innovative strategies to meet the challenges of Reforming Emergency Care'.

Conference Programme

Setting the scene.

Mr Neil McKay, Chief Executive, Leeds Teaching Hospitals NHS Trust

Delivering on the Government's expectations of A&E medicine.

Mr John Heyworth, President, British Association of A&E Medicine

Innovations and strategies for pre-hospital assessment of patients needing emergency care.

Mr Paul Ferguson, Director of Strategy, West Yorkshire Metropolitan Ambulance Service

Meeting demand, delivering change and training tomorrow's doctors – a physician's view.

Professor Sir George Alberti, Immediate past-President, Royal College of Physicians, London

Innovations in the Nurse Practitioner role for delivering change.

Mr Bob McMaster and Mrs Chrystal Fox, Nurse Consultants, Emergency Services, Leeds Teaching Hospitals NHS Trust

Quality of Emergency Care – how would you treat your mother? A Primary Care Perspective.

Dr Richard Vautrey, GP in Leeds and Regional Representative of the General Practitioner Committee of the BMA

Understanding the flows of patients in the whole system.

Sean Boyle and Pat Gordon, London School of Economics

Strategies for delivering on out-of-hours care in Leeds.

Mr John Sloan, Consultant in A&E Medicine, Leeds General Infirmary

The Clinical Decision Units in Leeds – a new era for Emergency Medicine in the UK.

Dr Taj Hassan, Consultant in A&E Medicine, Leeds General Infirmary

The NHS Clinical Assessment System – delivering change through information technology.

Mr Graham Johnson, Consultant in A&E Medicine, St.James's University Hospital, Leeds

Closing remarks – Light at the end of the tunnel!

Dr Alastair McGowan, President, Faculty of Emergency Medicine, Consultant in A&E Medicine, St.James's University Hospital, Leeds

Conference cost: £130. Further details and booking via:
Conference Secretary, Accident & Emergency Department
St.James's University Hospital, Leeds LS9 7TF
Tel: 0113 2064997