

'Princely Collecting'

A Study Day to mark the Gilbert
Collection Exhibition *Princely Splendour:
The Dresden Court 1580-1620*

Wednesday 5 October 2005 at the Wallace Collection 10am-3.30pm

This study day at the Wallace Collection complements the Gilbert Collection's Princely Splendour exhibition of over 200 works of art from the Dresden State Museum. The day will examine how such princely collections were created and how they inspired future collecting, as well as the development of the modern museum. Speakers include DIRK SYNDRAM (Staatliche Kunstsammlungen, Dresden), ARTHUR MACGREGOR (Ashmolean Museum, Oxford), BET MACLEOD (independent scholar) and JEREMY WARREN (Wallace Collection).

In conjunction with Learning at Somerset House

Cost £24/£20 concessions

Includes free entry on a day of your choosing to Princely Splendour: The Dresden Court 1580-1620 at the Gilbert Collection, Somerset House, (last entry 5.15pm)
