

An opportunity to join a world-class African university

DEPT OF ARCHAEOLOGY:

Senior Lecturer/Lecturer

We invite applications for this post from suitably qualified people with a postgraduate degree, preferably a PhD in Archaeology or cognate discipline, for appointment in early 2006.

You will be expected to teach at undergraduate as well as postgraduate level, co-ordinate courses and share departmental and administrative duties.

We are especially interested in applicants involved in the development and archaeological applications of stable light isotope analysis.

We also welcome applicants from other specialities which complement or strengthen those of our academic staff members. These include faunal analysis, and the archaeology of hunter-gatherers and/or pastoralists – within this broad area specialities might include the origins of modern humans/Middle Stone Age studies, coastal archaeology and rock art.

The annual remuneration packages, including benefits, are: Senior Lecturer: R300 510; Lecturer: R244 860.

Applications should include: • a letter of motivation • a full CV (no certificates) • a one-page condensed CV • a 1 – 2 page statement on how you envisage that your work will progress over the next few years, and how it will contribute to existing areas of interest within the Department • a statement of teaching experience and teaching philosophy, including evaluations of teaching (if available), and • e-mail/fax details of three contactable referees. These should be forwarded to Ms L. Mabalane, Ref: 991-ST, Staff Recruitment & Selection, UCT by 16 September 2005.

• e-mail: mabalane@bremner.uct.ac.za • Telephone: 021 650 2192 • Departmental website: www.uct.ac.za/depts/age • UCT website: www.uct.ac.za

A detailed information sheet is available from the above.

We are committed to equity in our employment practices. It is our intention to appoint individuals with the aim of meeting our equity objectives.

UNIVERSITY OF CAPE TOWN