

TRINITY COLLEGE
DUBLIN

The TCD Department of Philosophy and the School of Social Sciences and Philosophy cordially invite you to participate in:

Thursday 12 April at 6pm.

*Robert Emmet Theatre
Arts Building
Trinity College Dublin*

The Inaugural Edmund Burke Public Lecture

"Democracy: Fashions, Failures and Fantasies"

delivered by Philip Pettit,

Laurance S. Rockefeller University Professor of Politics and Human Values, Princeton University, and Edmond J Safra Senior Scholar in Ethics, Harvard University

with invited commentary by Leif Wenar,
Professor of Philosophy, University of Sheffield

Admission to the Burke Public Lecture is free.
For further information, please contact jurgen.dewispelaere@tcd.ie

The Department of Philosophy organises two political philosophy research seminars to coincide with the Burke Public Lecture:

Philip Pettit on "Rationality and Reason: The Case of Groups"
Thursday 12 April, 11am-12.30pm (Room 5012, Arts Building, TCD)

Leif Wenar on "Stolen Oil, Blood Diamonds, and the Resource Curse"
Friday 13 April, 3-5pm (Room 5012, Arts Building, TCD)

Participation in both seminars is free but places are restricted.
Please contact jurgen.dewispelaere@tcd.ie for reservations.

with the support of

RIA
ROYAL IRISH ACADEMY

Department of Philosophy, Trinity College Dublin, College Green, Dublin 2, Ireland
<http://www.tcd.ie/philosophy>