

Design History Society | Membership Application Form

January – December 2007

The Design History Society, founded in 1977, plays a leading role in promoting interest in the subject both in the UK and abroad. Members include all those interested in design: students, designers, lecturers, historians, researchers, craftspeople, manufacturers, archivists, curators, librarians, dealers and collectors. Membership is open to all. The Society holds an annual conference, study days and visits that provide opportunities for members to discuss current issues. The Society also produces a quarterly newsletter and the Journal of Design History. New members are always welcomed and actively encouraged to contribute to events and publications.

Membership Rates for 2007

The membership year runs from January to December. Payment of the subscription entitles you to receive the newsletter and the Journal of Design History. You are also entitled to a reduced rate at the Society's annual conference.
