

New Futures in the South East

A one-day conference for everyone interested in post-16 teaching and learning

An opportunity to find up-to-date information about professional development for literacy, language and numeracy (LLN) teachers in the South East.

A chance to share experiences and ideas with colleagues – from the Isle of Thanet to the Isle of Wight.

An opportunity to meet experts – national policy makers and researchers and regional teacher-educators.

Tuesday 26 June 2007 from 10am to 4pm
University of Surrey, Guildford

Online booking open now at
www.nrdc.org.uk/newfuturesconference

New Futures

Professionalising the lifelong learning workforce in the South East

Tuesday 26 June 2007
from 10am to 4pm

University of Surrey,
Guildford

Keynote speaker: Jim Pateman, Director, Tribal/CTAD

Learning in and for the future

Helen Casey, Executive Director, NRDC will lead a discussion on the big issues facing lifelong learning professionals

Interactive Workshops:

Moodling for teachers

Embedding LLN in other learning

LLN in/for the workplace

Persistence: what keeps learners going?

Becoming a new teacher

Teacher-educators and innovation.

There will be displays of resources.

Online booking open now at
www.nrdc.org.uk/newfuturesconference

This conference is free of charge, supported by the Learning and Skills Council (LSC) and European Social Fund (ESF).

Professionalising the lifelong learning workforce in the South East

