

New Lecturers' Forum

3 - 4 January 2008

For newly appointed psychology teaching staff

This two day professional development forum provides an opportunity for new psychology staff to share and evaluate a range of approaches, methods and resources for learning and teaching in the discipline.

Sessions will be led by UK psychology academics offering a mix of presentations, workshops and group discussion with a focus on practical experience.

Topics for this 2 day event include:

- Blended learning in psychology : Maggie Gale, University of Derby.
- Ethical issues in teaching psychology: Clare Wood, Coventry University.
- Innovative assessment: Peter Reddy, Aston University.
- Teaching ethics: Richard Kwiatkowski, The British Psychological Society.
- Teaching sensitive topics: Sue Becker, University of Teesside.
- Teaching students to think like psychologists: Simon Davies, University of Hull.
- Using enquiry based learning: Viv Brunsden and Rowena Hill, Nottingham Trent University.
- What to expect as a new psychology lecturer: Rachel Shaw, Aston University.

Attendance at this event could count towards your PG Cert or the CPD requirements of your funding body.

To be held at Aston University, Birmingham

There is no charge for this event and it includes lunches and evening meal.

For more information and a booking form visit:

http://www.psychology.heacademy.ac.uk/html/event_list.asp or contact us at:

The Higher Education Academy Psychology Network

Department of Psychology, First Floor, Information Centre

Market Square, University of York, York YO10 5NH

Tel: +44 (0) 1904 433154, Fax: +44 (0) 1904 433655

Email: psychology@heacademy.ac.uk

Web: www.psychology.heacademy.ac.uk

