

CALL FOR PAPERS

Young Operational Research Conference (YOR16)

Data Envelopment Analysis (DEA) stream

24th -26th, March 2009, Warwick University, UK

Dear Colleague,

YOR is a biennial conference intended for young academics and practitioners in the field of Operational Research. We would like to issue an invitation to take part in the Data Envelopment Analysis Stream of the YOR16.

This stream covers papers on the theme of efficiency and productivity in general and performance management in particular; both parametric and nonparametric applications will be considered. We specially welcome papers in:

- Theoretical aspects of efficiency and productivity in DEA or parametric methods
- Successful practical applications of performance measurement in real world (e.g. in banking, health, education, transportation ...) using DEA or parametric methods.

If you are interested in making a presentation, please submit a title of your talk no later than 31st October 2008 at:

http://www.orsoc.org.uk/conference/papersubmission/conference_submit.asp?cid=21

Deadline for submission title: 31st October 2008

Deadline for submission abstract: 15th January 2009

Conference date: 24th to 26th March 2009

Conference Venue: Warwick University, Coventry, UK
