

JOB TITLE: AIRBORNE OPERATOR x 2

OFFICE: LEICESTER/ REMOTE WORKING

JOB ROLE

The Airborne Operator will be proficient in airborne data capture and will be expected to operate the range of Infoterra sensors and acquire aerial survey data in line with the requirements of the Company

The operator will be technically responsible for the correct operation, installation and technical integrity of the system and all support equipment. Key skills required for this role include:

- Attention to detail
- A methodical approach to work
- A desire to learn and be open to new ideas
- Self-motivated team player
- Initiative to solve problems

DUTIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES

- To work on ARD Projects / PV's (within budget) as directed by the Operations Manager
- To assist in survey planning and project logistics in order to ensure client requirements and specification are met.
- The operation of digital cameras, hyperspectral, laserscanner and thermal sensors as required.

- oLeica ADS40 SH52

- oVexcel Ultracam UCX

- oOptech ALTM Gemini

- oOptech ALTM 2033

- oTrack'Air MIDAS oblique camera system

- oSpecim Aisa Eagle

- oTIR digital line scanner

- To assist with system installation, configuration and undertake calibration flights as required
- To assist in post acquisition tasks, data download and data processing, as required
- To work within the scope and guidelines of Infoterra's Quality Management System and promote a quality culture within the group
- To provide technical support to other members of the group and across the Company, to identify and progress their requirements

- To liaise with Internal Staff, Pilots, External agencies and customers
- To provide advice and instruction to Infoterra customers, where appropriate
- To assist in other areas of the business when required

EXPERIENCE / QUALIFICATIONS / TRAINING

The ideal candidate will have at least 2 years experience in airborne data capture with a clean driving license and a motor vehicle. This position will be full time and will involve flexible working hours (incl. weekends and nights) with overseas travel.

This is an excellent opportunity for somebody looking to develop their career in an organisation with vision, capability and a portfolio second to none. Infoterra offers an extremely competitive benefits package from an excellent final salary to a generous pension scheme and healthcare cover. On-the-job training will also be provided.

If you are interested in this vacancy, please send your CV and a covering letter in to recruitment@infoterra-global.com.

Closing Date for all applications: 15th February 2009