

Mapping Dangerous Spaces

Monday 1 June 2009

British Library Conference Centre

Full draft programme

9.00 - 9.30 - Registration and tea/coffee

Plenary 1

9.30 - 9.45 - Welcome from Jude England

9.45 - 10.30 - Peter Barber of the British Library: Historical maps of crime and danger

10.30 - 11.45 - Session 1:

Parallel 1 (Out of place: negotiating stigmatisation and fear)

Chair: Lesley-Ann Smith - University of Northampton, Division of Psychology

Title to be confirmed

Catherine Alexander - Durham University, Department of Geography

Defining Thresholds of Dangerousness: the criminalisation of people and place

Vickie Cooper and Jo Hudson - Manchester Metropolitan University

The way home as a 'space of fear'?

Angelina Kurtev - Liverpool John Moores University, Public Health Research Synthesis

Parallel 2 (Global violence and security)

Chair: Dan Burrows - The University of Kent, SSPSSR

The Olympic Games: 'An inevitable terrorist target'

Zoe Kontaxi - University of Kent, School of Social Policy, Sociology, and Social Research

Asylum, the 'Global Alien' and the Discourse of Danger: Mapping an emerging European 'Security State'

Fran Cetti - University of East London, Refugees Studies Department

Security and criminality in Portugal: the National Videosurveillance Program

Catarina Frois - Centre for Research in Anthropology

Parallel 3 (Representing the experiential)

Chair: Dorian Hayes - British Library, Curator of Canadian and Caribbean Materials

Slime and Reason

Alex Rhys-Taylor - Goldsmith College, Centre for Urban and Community Research

Britain's Pruitt-Igoe? The Iconography of the Aylesbury Estate, 1974 to 2006

Ben Campkin - University College London, Faculty for Built Environments

Fear of the Dark - Lighting and Surveillance in the Modern City

Mark Hall - University of Derby, Art, Design and Technology

11.45-12.00 - Break for tea/coffee

12.00 - 1.15 - Session 2:

Parallel 1 (Creating and policing urban parameters)

Chair: Dr. Keith Hayward, University of Kent, SSPSSR

Crime, cartography and the geo-coding of dangerous behaviours

David Beckingham - University of Cambridge, Department of Geography

Getting Lost in Manchester

Morag Rose - Independent Researcher

Fenced City: The Socio-Political History and Contemporary Deployment of Fences in London

Trenton Oldfield - lunchontheroof.com

Parallel 2 (Bounding vulnerability)

Chair: Millie Wilson - University of Kent, SSPSSR

'Home Sweet Home (Not)!' - Territoriality/dislocation and safety in the lives of young homeless people

Emma Jackson - Goldsmith College, Department of Sociology

Mapping the forced migration of women fleeing domestic violence

Janet Bowstead - London Metropolitan University, Child and Woman Abuse Studies

Visual Contestations of Spatial Fear: Young People's Experiences in London

Sireita Mullings - Goldsmith College, Visual Sociology

Parallel 3 (Mapping un/healthiness and aid)

Chair: TBC

Shrinking Humanitarian Space? Towards a new Humanitarian Criminology

Arnaud Dandoy - University of Kent, SSPSSR

Mapping the Floor of Death - Epidemiology as Cartography

Freddie Attenborough - Loughborough University, Department of Social Science

'Mad, Bad And Dangerous To Know': The (Re)Productive Mapping Of Psycho-Pathological Landscapes

Lesley-Ann Smith - University of Northampton, Division of Psychology

1.15 - 2.15 - Lunch

2.15 - 3.30 - Session 3:

Parallel 1 (Literary maps of danger)

Chair: Laura Hanson - University of Kent, SSPSSR

Literary Geographical Information Systems(GIS) : Plotting the narrative topographies and historical poetics of Irish literature

Charles Travis - Trinity College, Department of Geography

Sherlock's Slums: The Strand Magazine and the Politics of Mapping London

Jon Cranfield - University of Kent, School of English

"For the most part unpunished" - Crime in William Burroughs

Rona Cran - University College London

Parallel 2 (Governing the 'dangerous' space)

Chair: Dr. Ruben Flores - University of Kent, SSPSSR

Favela Rules: The constitution of slum polities in Rio de Janeiro

Petras Shelton-Zumpano - LSE, School of Political Science

Manipulating dangerous space in Taipei city

Jun-Hua Lin - University of Sheffield, Department of Geography

A taste of Gaza in Latin America

Sylvia Meichsner - Goldsmith College, Sociology Department

Parallel 3 (Navigating transgression in the everyday)

Chair: Jude England - British Library, Head of Social Science Collections and Research

Surveillance and Transgendered Spaces

Youngsook Choi - Kings College London, Department of Geography

Music Festivals: A History of Transgression, Liminality and the Carnavalesque

Jonathan Exon - University of Leeds, Faculty of Environment

Safe or Seedy?: Anne Summers and the Negotiation of the Sexually Explicit consumption space

Adrienne Evans - Bath University, Centre for Research on Advertising and Consumption

3.30-3.45 - Break for tea/coffee

3.45-5.15 - Plenary 2:

Thinking through dangerous spaces

Dr. Kate O'Brien (University of Kent)

Dr. Alex Warwick (University of Westminster)

Dr. Alessandro Scafi (Warburg Institute)

5.15 - Round up and thank-you: Laura Hanson & Sarah Evans

5.30 - Drinks reception in foyer

6.30 CLOSE