

London Evening Discussions

Wednesday 25 March, 5:30—7:30pm
Wednesday 10 June, 5.30—7.30pm

The English Subject Centre is pleased to announce the next two dates in our London Evening Discussion Group series.

These popular evenings are an opportunity to share ideas about teaching with colleagues across London in an informal atmosphere. Refreshments provided.

“An opportunity for lecturers in English studies to come together over a glass of wine and talk about teaching in an informal, congenial atmosphere”

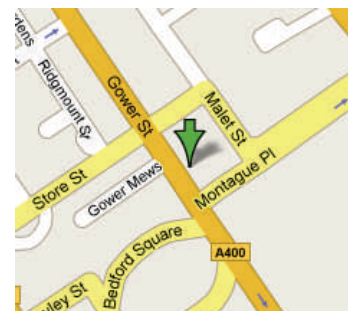

Wednesday 25 March, 5.30—7.30pm

The dissertation and the thesis: What part do they play in the Humanities?

Wednesday 10 June, 5.30—7.30pm

Modularity killed the cat! Creating intellectual coherence in modular degree schemes.

The English Subject Centre is part of the Higher Education Academy and supports the teaching of English Literature, English Language and Creative Writing across UK Higher Education.

The event will be held at the Central London campus of Royal Holloway University of London — Bedford Square, 2 Gower Street, London WC1E 6DP

Goodge St, Tottenham Court Road, Russell Square and Euston Square

This event is free of charge but as spaces are limited we urge you to register on the English Subject Centre website:

<http://www.english.heacademy.ac.uk>