BiReCon

26th August 2010

University of East London, London, UK

- ~ Bringing together international research on bisexuality ~
- ~ Showcasing UK research, activism & policy ~
- ~ Building bridges between bisexual community
& the wider world ~

Following the success of the first national BiReCon event in 2008 we invite contributions for the first international BiReCon from:

- International & national researchers & academics
- Charities, governmental bodies & other relevant groups
- LGBTQ organisations
- Bisexual activists & members of the bisexual community

If you would like to present a paper or facilitate a workshop, please provide a 150 word abstract & brief biography, by December 31st 2009 to: Meg Barker & Christina Richards at info@biuk.org

During the day there will be opportunities to:

- Find out about issues affecting bisexual people internationally
- Hear about cutting edge research on bisexuality
- Discuss ways in which organisations can better work with, and for, bisexual people, drawing on good practice
- Take part in workshops on specific issues

BiReCon will be the first day of the international BiCon event in 2010, which takes place at UEL, London Docklands, UK. To find out more please visit: www.bicon2010.org.uk
