Host your own Schools Question Time debate in your school & win the chance to go behind the scenes of Question Time on BBC ONE!

What is Schools Question Time?

- > An opportunity for 14–19 year olds to engage with politics and the media through a Challenge Competition.
- > Student teams are invited to tell us how they would run BBC ONE's Question Time.

Develop your Experience and Skills

- > Schools/colleges can win the opportunity to put on their own Schools Question Time event with a £250 grant and a communications skills workshop.
- > Four schools will be chosen as winners and selected students will have the opportunity to work with David Dimbleby on Question Time.

Applications Close: 7 November 2010

A Word from David Dimbleby

"It is immensely encouraging seeing young people taking an interest in issues that affect them and voicing their opinions so coherently."

"Schools Question Time has been a great way to learn about Politics. I really enjoyed putting on an event for our school and getting politicians to take young people seriously." Student, 16, Gwernyfed High School
