

Professional Development for Postgraduates who Teach Psychology

Engage, Enhance & Encourage Student Learning...

How to teach introductory Psychology: Dr. Laura A. Mitchell & Steven Brown, Glasgow Caledonian University

Learning new innovative ideas to teach introductory Psychology. An interactive session on how to keep students engaged, whilst learning the key concepts needed to undertake good research.

How to teach statistics in psychological research: Dr. John Reidy, Sheffield Hallam University

“Teaching statistics: what I have learned (so far)”: how to teach new students the basic statistical methods required to carry on good research in psychology.

Career development for postgraduates in Psychology: Dr. Marc Obonsawin, University of Strathclyde.

Professor Kate Davidson, University of Glasgow & NHS. Jessica Chivers, The Thinking Woman’s Coach, Hertfordshire.

Do you often wonder where you are heading and how to get there? A chance to get an insight into different careers and answer any unanswered questions.

Wednesday 12th January 2011 ♦ University of Stirling

No charge for postgraduates in UK HE institutions.

Reimbursements and bursaries for travel expenses available
Lunch, morning and afternoon refreshments included.

To register for the event and find out about reimbursements please go to:
<http://www.psychology.heacademy.ac.uk/s.php?p=202&db=215>

If you would like any more information please contact:
Elise Campbell (lorna.elise.campbell@strath.ac.uk)
Margherita Sacca (margheritasacca@hotmail.it)