

CITY UNIVERSITY
LONDON

Centre for Competition and Regulatory Policy Workshop

Centre for Economics & Management
IFP School, Rueil-Malmaison/Paris

July 7 (afternoon) and 8, 2011

City University's Centre for Competition and Regulatory Summer Workshop, organised jointly with the Regulatory Policy Institute and IFP School Centre for Economics and Management will take place at IFP School (Rueil-Malmaison / Paris) on July 7th (afternoon) and 8th, 2011.

The areas to be covered in the workshop will include the following topics:

- Competition in the energy industries (including: oil, gas, electricity) and economic regulation of energy commodity markets;
- Economic regulation of infrastructure industries including airports, telecoms, broadcasting, water, postal services, etc;
- Environmental regulation and climate change policy;
- General and industry/market specific competition policy issues;
- Boundaries and overlaps between economic regulation and competition policy for all utilities and networks.

Please note the deadlines:

for abstracts: May 16th, 2011

for completed drafts: June 20th, 2011

for registration: July 1st, 2011

The full programme for the event will be available at www.city.ac.uk/economics/CCRP/CCRP.html

The workshop is free of charge (including lunches), however delegates will need to pay for their own accommodation, travel costs and the optional workshop dinner on Thursday July, 7th.

For further information and to register for the workshop please email:

eventCEM@ifpen.fr

This event is organized by the IFP School Centre for Economics and Management (CEM). The IFP School CEM is an interdisciplinary centre committed to the study of the economics of energy industries with regard to regulation, management and sustainability. IFP School is a graduate school specialized on energy whose purpose is to provide education combining academic rigour and industrial relevance at a high international level within technology, management, and economics. For information about IFP School visit www.ifp-school.com