Thriving on the Edge of Cuts: Inspirations and Innovations in Gender Studies

Thursday, 23rd June 2011

Centre for Interdisciplinary Gender Studies
University of Leeds

Keynote Speaker:
Dr. Kath Browne, University of Brighton

Call for Publication

In 2010 the British government decided to cut funding for university Arts, Humanities and Social Science departments, thereby endangering spaces for critical social thought. Thriving on the Edge of Cuts will provide an interdisciplinary platform for up and coming researchers in the field of gender studies. We are welcoming papers from all disciplines that are in broad conversation with the theme of university funding cuts and that present a strong concern with gender. Delegates presenting a paper are encouraged to submit their work for publication in a special edition of the Graduate Journal of Social Sciences

(GJSS), an interdisciplinary journal for postgraduate students and early career academics (for more details please see <http://www.gjss.org>).

Deadline for Submission

The deadline for submitting papers for review is Thursday, 7th July 2011. Successful papers will be published in October 2011. For guidelines on formatting, referencing and general style requirements please see:

<http://www.gjss.org/index.php?/gjss.org-Submission-of-Articles.html>

Authors should also note that the GJSS uses the Chicago Manual of Style:

<http://gjss.org/index.php?/gjss.org-Chicago-Manual-of-Style.html>

The paper can be the same length as the conference paper.

Further Information and Details

Please do not hesitate to contact us with any questions related to the conference or publishing, or any other aspect of Thriving on the Edge of Cuts. We look forward to welcoming you in June!

Best wishes,
