

EMASS

Early Medieval Archaeology Student Symposium Department of Archaeology, University of Glasgow 25th-27th May, 2011

Registration is now open!

www.gla.ac.uk/departments/archaeology/newslinks/emass/

Facebook: <http://www.facebook.com/EMASS2011>

emass2011@gmail.com

This year we have diverse range of papers, dealing with the archaeology of the early medieval period from Strathmore to the Arabian Peninsula. Topics to be discussed range from scientific analysis of Scottish silver to theoretical considerations of the perception of colour, and from the landscapes of pilgrimage and warfare to considerations of death and dying.

Two days of papers will be followed by a fieldtrip to early medieval sites in Perthshire on the 27th.

With special thanks to The Glenmorangie Company and National Museums Scotland, the Rosemary Cramp Fund, the University of Glasgow Collaborative Research Training Initiative, and Tunnock's.

Wine and Whisky reception - whisky sponsored by The Glenmorangie Company - to be held at Govan Old Parish Church, home to a collection of early medieval sculpture including several hogback tombs.

