

CENTRE FOR JEWISH STUDIES

Teaching the Holocaust in 21st Century Britain

FREE one-day conference

Friday 13 May 2011

The Centre for Jewish Studies and the Department of Religions and Theology, University of Manchester and
Imperial War Museum North

Location: Imperial War Museum North
Times: Friday 13 May 10.00 am – 4.00 pm
For Secondary and Primary school teachers, BA/
MA Education and PGCE students Cost FREE – participants need to cover accommodation, travel and subsistence costs

The conference will provide:

- usable material and information to teach the Holocaust
- accurate tools for educators to deal with teaching the Holocaust in the classroom and to support the organisation of Holocaust Memorial Day events

Speakers include Andy Pierce, Royal Holloway, University of London, Fiyaz Mughl, Faith Matters UK and Gillian Walnes, Anne Frank Trust along with members of the Imperial War Museum learning team

Learning Outcomes

- To come to some conclusions about the nature and value of Holocaust education in the UK;
- To widen knowledge about how to teach the Holocaust using a variety of methods and ideas;
- To network, debate and discuss teaching the Holocaust, the issues and benefits, with other UK teachers and educators.

To book email Amy Ryall, Professional Development Manager
aryall@iwm.org.uk

Programme

Morning
10.00	Welcome to Imperial War Museum North
10.15	Andy Pierce, Royal Holloway, The University of London "What are the uses of Holocaust education in the UK?"
11.00	Tea and coffee
11.15	Fiyaz Mughal, Faith Matters, UK "Teaching the Holocaust to Muslim students"
12.00	Fabrice Teicher, The Shoah Memorial Paris "Visits to Holocaust exhibitions: benefits and difficulties"
12. 30	Lunch A chance to visit the Exhibition and see the Holocaust related artefacts
Afternoon
1.30	Gillian Walnes, Anne Frank Trust UK "20 years of the Anne Frank Trust in the UK"
2.15	Rachel Donnelly and Victoria Howarth, Imperial War Museum "Holocaust education programmes at Imperial War Museum London and Imperial War Museum North"
3.00	Tea and Coffee
3.15	Panel discussion: Andy Pierce, Fiyaz Mughal, Gillian Walnes and Fabrice Teicher
3.45	General discussion
4.00	End of conference