

Learning development partnerships and student learning: The transformative impact of constructive encounters in the curriculum

Conference hosted by Library Services and the Academic Professional Development

Tuesday 24 May 2011 (9.30am – 2.00pm)

Hugh Aston, De Montfort University

CONFERENCE

With increasing pressure on resources, learning development teams need to demonstrate their ability to be relevant to, and engage with, the full range of students. This free event considers ways of enhancing the impact of learning development through collaborative and embedded approaches. Students, academic staff, librarians and learning developers will share their experiences of learning and teaching together.

Keynote Speaker:

John Hilsdon, founding chairman of the Association of Learning Development in Higher Education, will be our keynote speaker.

Workshops:

Workshops will provide opportunities to consider how partnerships have enabled the development of key resources, enhanced the delivery of the curriculum and widened the scope of learning development.

Please go to the link below for the conference registration form and further information about workshops and keynotes presentations.
