

WERC

Wales Ethnicity Research Collaboration
Cydwethrediad Ymchwil Ethnigrwydd Cymru

SAVE THE DATE OCTOBER

Practising Community-Engaged Research in Wales

This will be a half-day event, comprising public lectures, poster presentations, 'Shout outs' and workshops to spotlight the value and importance of community- engaged research in Wales, with a focus on community researchers and academics working in the fields of race equality, community development, and social justice. The panel discussion will focus on the following areas:

- Community-engaged research in Wales: Benefits and challenges
- 'By the community, for the community?': The role and work of Community Researchers
- Methodological innovations: What works and why?
- Ethical issues in conducting community - engaged, participatory research

Key themes to be explored in the workshops include:

- Challenges facing community researchers
- Developing cross-sector research partnerships
- Cross-sector methodological exchanges – what works and what does not work
- Research capacity and development within sectors
- Good practice and innovation

We welcome abstract submissions in the following categories: 'Shout Outs', Poster presentations, and Workshops.

The closing date for submissions: 23/9/11.

31 2011

1:30 p.m. - 5.00 p.m.

Wales Millennium Centre, Cardiff Bay

Register now!

This event is of interest to anyone who is interested in community-engaged research and with working collaboratively with population groups that face marginalisation and discrimination. We welcome members of the public, researchers based in the community, voluntary and equalities sectors, and university-based researchers.

There has been great interest in this event. Spaces are limited and you are advised to register to attend this event as early as possible to avoid disappointment.

There is no charge to attend. To secure your place and to submit an abstract, register online here: www.survey.glam.ac.uk/event

Alternatively, contact Carmel Downes.

Email: cdownes@glam.ac.uk Telephone: (01443) 483107.

www.werconline.org.uk