NEW YORK UNIVERSITY

ABU DHABI

Description:

The Person Perception and Person Knowledge Lab at New York University Abu Dhabi (located in the United Arab Emirates), under the supervision of Professor Susanne Quadflieg, is currently seeking a full-time lab manager to begin as early as January 2012. The individual will work closely with Professor Quadflieg to ensure smooth functioning of an active research laboratory. Studies relate to aspects of person perception and person inferences, and involve collection of questionnaire, behavioral, and neuroscientific (EEG, MEG, and fMRI) data. This is a one year position with the possibility for extension in case of mutual interest.

Responsibilities:

The main responsibilities of the Lab Manager will be to coordinate and conduct research studies related to person perception and person inferences, and to serve as the administrator of laboratory activities, such as maintaining laboratory computers and equipment, creating and maintaining the lab website, preparing stimuli, programming experimental tasks, recruitment and testing of human subjects, analyzing and managing data, reviewing literature, and assisting with preparation of talks, manuscripts and grant writing.

Qualifications:

This position is ideal for recent college graduates thinking of applying to graduate school in psychology or cognitive neuroscience. Previous experience conducting research in social psychology or cognitive neuroscience is highly desired. Experience with fMRI/MEG/EEG methods and analysis and with computer programming (e.g., psyscope, presentation, MATLAB) is preferred. Above all, the successful candidate will be self-motivated, highly organized, willing to travel and a good team player.

Application:

Applications will be considered until the position is filled. Applicants should submit a brief resume and a 1-page cover letter describing their qualifications for the position, relevant experience, and research interests, along with the names of 2 or 3 references that may be contacted for a recommendation. Please send applications to Susanne Quadflieg via email. For more information, you may contact Susanne Quadflieg via email and/or visit her website (<http://quadflieg.socialpsychology.org/>).
