

Anthropology in London Day 2012

University College London, Department of Anthropology, 14 Taviton Street, London, 11 June 2012 from 9.30am

Certainty?

To what extent is 'certainty' a viable starting point for 21st-century anthropology?

Opening plenary:

Richard Fardon (SOAS) 'Trials and Convictions'
Jean La Fontaine (LSE) 'Uncertainty and Open Minds'

Closing plenary speakers include Chris Pinney (UCL), Isak Niehaus (Brunel), Catherine Alexander (Goldsmiths) and Mathijs Pelkmans (LSE).

Anthropology in London is a platform principally for anthropologists of the London colleges and universities to meet and share ideas arising from their current research. This year's conference is organised under the aegis of University of East London and UCL.

Conference attendance is open to all university staff and postgraduate students but registration is required. Email sk111@soas.ac.uk confirming your institutional affiliation.

The Funktionalists band will play at an evening reception.

For further details and the full programme see <http://www.soas.ac.uk/anthropology/anthropology-in-london-day-2012/>

Brunel
UNIVERSITY
L O N D O N

Goldsmiths
UNIVERSITY OF LONDON

