SPECIAL SESSIONS

The conference organizers of ICOT 2012 invite colleagues to submit proposals for special sessions. Special sessions may be related to any topics within the conference scope and aim to bring together researchers in a focused topic. Each session should have at least 5 presentations. The papers will go through the normal review process. Typically the session proposer would be an author and presenter of one of the papers. A brief additional summary and rationale of the session can be submitted to the conference co chair (antonis.theocharous@cut.ac.cy).

For special sessions, proposals should include:

- Special Session title
- Expected number of submissions
- Session chair(s)
- A one-paragraph biographical sketch for each organizer, describing relevant qualifications, including research and conference/special session organizing experience

The Session organizers will be responsible for advertising their session, reviewing and selecting the papers. Session organizers will have free registration and one presentation free. Papers accepted for Sessions will be published in the Proceedings of ICOT 2012 and will also be considered for a special issue of the International Journal of Tourism Policy where the session organizer(s) will act as a guest editor(s). Further details about the conference special session can be found at <http://www.iatour.net/icot2012/conference/specialsessions> and for the publication plan at <http://www.iatour.net/icot2012/conference/publication-plan>.

SETTING THE AGENDA FOR SPECIAL INTEREST TOURISM: PAST, PRESENT AND FUTURE

CONFERENCE AIMS AND SCOPE

The development of mass tourism has posed threats and created problems that have affected destinations and local communities in virtually every corner of the world. To overcome the problems of mass tourism, many governments, businesses, communities, and tourism organisations have turned to alternative types of tourism development. One such alternative is 'special interest tourism'. While this has become a centre of attention for the tourism industry, in academic and professional literature, there is still much that is not known or is not widely known.

Bearing these in mind, ICOT 2012 aims to contribute to the ongoing debate on the issues posed by special interest tourism by covering state-of-the-art theoretical, practical and institutional work on special interest tourism. Through the dissemination of this work the conference seeks to inform future policy on the management of special interest tourism projects by stimulating discussion and the exchange of ideas between tourism professionals, academics, researchers, policy-makers, consultants, practitioners, government officials and postgraduate students from tourism-related fields.

ICOT 2012 will also give participants an opportunity to combine an effective conference experience with a holiday in Archanes, Crete, one of the most famous rural destinations in Crete.

ABSTRACTS

Abstracts are invited for concurrent sessions and poster presentations. The abstract will be used by reviewers as the basis for acceptance of the paper or poster for presentation. Thus the abstract should clearly communicate the objective of the work, the results and their significance, and the advancement over previous work. Time and effort spent constructing a clear, concise, and well-written abstract will maximize the chances of paper acceptance. New and significant work is a prerequisite for paper acceptance. Abstracts may only be submitted online at <http://www.iatour.net/icot2012/content/abstract-submission> by the deadline 10th April 2012.

Abstract title should be brief (no more than 20 words). The abstract body should be between 250 and 350 words and it must include a brief background, methods, results, and conclusion(s) where appropriate. Abstracts submitted by fax or by email will not be accepted. When using the online submission form, you will receive immediate confirmation via email that will also include a unique reference number. Print this confirmation for future reference. This notification only confirms only receipt of your submission and is not a notification of acceptance. If you do not receive a confirmation email that your abstract was successfully uploaded, please contact the Conference Secretariat at: icot@iatour.net.

FULL PAPERS

Full papers should be between 3000 and 5000 words in length (including figures and references). All papers should be written in good English. Your full paper must be prepared using the ICOT 2012 paper template. The Harvard method of listing references both in-text and at the end of the text is required. Papers may only be submitted online at <http://www.iatour.net/icot2012/content/paper-submission>

POSTERS

Poster sessions will be scheduled for poster presenters to be able to answer questions regarding their projects. Title should be in bold. Author's affiliations and e-mail addresses for corresponding authors should be included. Body of the poster should start with a short introduction followed by methods, results and conclusion(s) clearly indicated. Text should be kept to a minimum, and each block of text should include no more than a few sentences. Suggested font sizes are main title: 78-96 pt (bold, upper case), author(s): 72 pt (bold, title case), affiliation(s): 48 pt (normal, title case), subheading: 36 pt (bold uppercase), body of text: 24 pt (normal). Posters may only be submitted via e-mail (as an MS-Word attachment) to icot@cut.ac.cy, no later than 14th May 2012. Posters that will be selected will appear in the book of abstracts.

PUBLICATION PLAN

Book of abstracts

Abstracts of all papers and posters presented at the conference will be published in a book of abstracts for distribution at the conference.

CONFERENCE VENUE

The conference venue will be the old Elementary School of Archanes, a historical traditional building dating back in 1864 at the entrance of the village. The building was used as a town hall and subsequently hosted an elementary school. Nowadays, the building has been preserved and refurbished and today hosts the Greek Open University. The building offers a very satisfying level of facilities and is fully equipped to accommodate the conference.
