

NOVICE International Conference: Insights for online professional communities

The Faculty of Veterinary Medicine – Bucharest, Romania
4th-5th October 2012

NOVICE

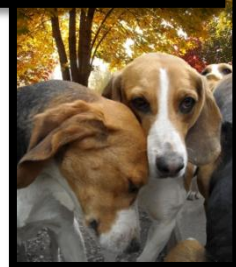

NOVICE is the Network Of Veterinary ICt in Education, an EU funded Project which aims to investigate and promote the use of Web 2.0 tools, such as discussion boards, in informal lifelong learning. The project has led to the development of a veterinary online community, www.noviceproject.eu.

The Conference

The project will host a conference entitled 'Insights for online professional communities' on 4th-5th October 2012 at the Faculty of Veterinary Medicine, Bucharest, Romania. The conference aims to bring together e-learning specialists and members of any profession involved, or interested in being involved, with their own online professional community. Though the NOVICE website focuses on the veterinary profession and veterinary education, the conference is open to all professions. So whether you are a Web 2.0 developer, or a medical educator interested in the possibilities of online communities, you are invited to attend.

Abstracts

Abstracts for short communications, poster presentations and workshops are invited before 1st June 2012

Visit www.novice-conference.com to find out more