Autumn School DETECTING CULTURAL LANDSCAPE IN MEDITERRANEAN ARCHAEOLOGY

Cultural heritage and identity are precious values that need to be preserved and managed

TERRE DEL CHIANTI - SEPTEMBER 17th- 22nd 2012

New opportunity for landscape enhancement

The Autumn School Detecting Cultural Landscape in Mediterranean Archaeology (DeCLaMA) aims to provide technical expertise in increasing and promoting a new territorial development model based on the preservation and knowledge of cultural elements of the landscape: rural setting, archeology and quality food products.

A multidisciplinary approach will provide the instruments for basic and applied research in historical, archaeological and agroforestry landscapes; managers will also teach planning, enhancement and communication techniques.
