The 2013 BILD Positive Behaviour Support International Research and Practice Conference

The fourth international research and practice conference brings together thought leaders and practitioners to share their expertise, review the evidence and present the most recent findings on the use of positive behaviour support approaches in a range of settings for individuals with learning disabilities.

Positive behaviour approaches have now taken centre stage as the preferred way to support adults and children with learning disabilities whose behaviour is described as challenging. Our symposium and conference will offer academics, researchers and practitioners the opportunity to examine the data, explore ideas, share practice and hear eminent speakers illustrate concepts, findings and thoughts on overcoming any barriers to implementation.

This conference will outline the ways to turn the policy and research into daily practice and show how positive behaviour support approaches can be applied across a wide range of settings and supports. In particular, speakers will provide examples of frameworks for implementation, including qualitative outcomes from international perspectives.

This year's programme includes workshops, keynotes and a research symposium, with opportunities for delegates and facilitators to network, collaborate and reflect on their personal and organisational practice. As always, the overall aim will be to reduce challenging behaviour by developing skills to support individuals in a person centred way.

BILD's Positive Behaviour Support conference is now a well-established annual event and extremely popular. We anticipate that this 2013 event will further enhance its reputation as the UK's leading conference on positive behaviour support.

The UK's widest range of positive behaviour support resources to support you in your work

BILD's long experience in developing positive behaviour support approaches can help organisations equip their staff with the training, skills and qualifications needed to provide the right support for people whose behaviour is described as challenging.

Develop specialist skills with the BILD Positive Behaviour Support Qualification

The BILD PBS Qualification uses the units from the Level 3 Certificate in Supporting Individuals with Learning Disabilities which meet the Mansell recommendations as being essential for staff supporting people whose behaviour is described as challenging.

And as organisations' training resources and experience vary, we offer a range of ways to help you deliver the qualification to your workforce.

BILD's CPD certified PBS training events

Our CPD certified training events are designed to help people and organisations gain the right knowledge to support people with learning disabilities or autism in a person centred way.

The 2013 events aim to address the needs of beginners and those looking for more advanced training:

- An introduction to positive behaviour support
- Developing positive behaviour support for individuals
- Risk assessment and behavioural audits – reducing restrictive practices
- Promoting effective communication within a positive behaviour support framework
- Advanced positive behaviour support and autistic spectrum condition

PBS training in the workplace

We offer positive behaviour support training tailored to the specific needs of your organisation and workforce, delivered by our experienced training consultants in your workplace.

PBS Consultancy and PBS in schools and colleges

We can help review your organisation's policies and procedures to ensure they are up to date with national policy and guidance, undertake an organisational behaviour audit and risk assessment, and support you to implement positive behaviour support across your organisation.

We also offer a specific behaviour support review for schools and colleges to help identify good practice and develop a plan of action to ensure that practice continues to keep pace with the evidence base, legislation and policy practice frameworks.
