

RESEARCH THAT BREAKS YOUR HEART: THE EMOTIONAL IMPACT OF RESEARCH ON THE RESEARCHER

- Date: Monday 11th March, 9:45am-5pm

- Workshop leaders include:

Dr Kerry Davies and Sophie Ebeling (Helen & Douglas House), Ben Hicks (Bournemouth University Dementia Institute), Dr Juliet Rayment (City University London), Bridget Taylor, Marta Wanat and Tracy McAteer (Oxford Brookes University)

- Venue: Room MR1/20, Marston road, Oxford Brookes University

- Brief Description: This one-day workshop is aimed at individuals who are conducting research on the emotionally challenging topics.

- Aims of the workshop:

- To improve their understanding of the impact research may have on them
- To explore practical strategies on dealing with emotions whilst conducting research
- To build a network of peer support

- Teaching and Learning Methods: The workshop will include some short lectures as well as practical exercises and the small group work.

- The workshop is being funded by the PSYPAG with help from Oxford Brookes University, so there is no cost to participants. Lunch and Refreshments will be provided.

- The number of places in the workshop is limited. If you would like to book a place please email the form attached as soon as possible to Marta Wanat (marta.wanat-2011@brookes.ac.uk). If you would like more information: contact Tracy McAteer tmcateer@brookes.ac.uk or Marta marta.wanat-2011@brookes.ac.uk).