

Roundtable with Jane Guyer, Johns Hopkins; Chris Gregory, ANU; Martha MacIntyre, Melbourne; Elizabeth Povinelli, Columbia; Pete Wade, Madeleine Reeves, Manchester

Forty years ago the collapse of Bretton Woods ended a global monetary policy and created a precarious economy. Scholars face a new descriptive and theoretical project

How do people make a living in turbulent times?
Is a critique of the new theory of value possible?

4.206 University Place,
1:30 – 5:30 pm, 17 April 2013

The Hallsworth Trust, University of Manchester, and Berghahn Books, Oxford and New York have graciously provided refreshments at Manchester Museum Cafe, from 6:00 to 7:30 pm.

More information about this ESRC funded event can be found at:

<http://www.socialsciences.manchester.ac.uk/disciplines/socialanthropology/research/value/>