WE WANT YOUR TELEGRAMS!

Do you have a telegram tucked away somewhere at home?
Who sent it and what does it say?

As part of a new gallery about communications technologies, the Science Museum is looking for telegrams of all sorts.

A team of community collectors are working across the UK, in partnership with local museums, to find telegrams and collect the fascinating stories behind them.

To contribute to the project, pop along to one of our collecting days where you can share your telegrams with us.
