FOTOG is a Urban & Fine Art photography practice, working in the Museum, Schools, Arts & Community Projects sectors since 2008. We also undertake Photography Walks and Workshops and cover Events & CONFERENCES and other private commissions. Our photo-work includes a variety of project types, including buildings, places and spaces, historic settings, heritage, regeneration and community projects. You can see some of our portfolio at www.fotog.info and more images at our FLICKR PHOTOSTREAM and FLICKR SLIDESHOW. A Working Profile & Creative Statement are available on request.

Our principal Photographer is Peter Kyte, who is a Licentiate Member of the British Institute of Professional Photography, a Member of the Museums Association, the Group for Education in Museums and has a teacher training qualification in the Lifelong Learning sector (PTLLS). He is also a Chartered Town Planner and Chartered Geographer, and has run his own planning consultancy for 25 years. In May 2012 he obtained a City & Guilds Diploma in Photography.

AN INTERTWINED URBAN PHOTOGRAPHER, TOWN PLANNER & GEOGRAPHER

Peter is a practising urban photographer and town planner (as well as being a Chartered Geographer), having much experience of cities and how they function. This dual skill photographer and town planner background helps Peter celebrate all that makes up the urban environment - cultural events, festivals, people in the street, people at work, people at play, architecture and open spaces, regeneration and community action projects. Peter's portfolio can be seen at www.fotog.info.

His natural leaning towards observing the rich context of all that is happening about him led him to become an urban photographer, focusing on learning and education in the community. He is now very much enjoying taking forward FOTOG as a photo-artistic-learning concept.

Peter's work might normally be described as 'Street Photography' but he sees his remit as wider than that photographic genre. He seeks to imaginatively record the rich tapestry of urban life and activity... the things people do, the places and buildings they live in, the fun, the hardships, and the multitude of moments that make up our lives. His creative desire is to get right into urban life and to develop a way to see and understand everything within it.
