

7 May 2014 – European Seminar on Excellence in ICT enhanced Higher Education

Review and certification of institutions and programs in their use of ICT for learning gains importance. On the one hand institutions look for external recognition and seek to pursue excellence, on the other hand certification schemes also offer orientation on what works and what doesn't. EADTU, EFQUEL and ENQA therefore organise this one day seminar on eLearning in Higher Education. Certification and review approaches will be presented through simulations and case studies. The seminar will be partly informative and partly interactive and will be featuring high quality content on review methodologies and experiences.
