CLFNET has over 90 members and will hopefully continue to grow. The forum is applicable for regulators, consultants, remediation contractors, lawyers, academics, site owners and developers. The Forum is run by a small steering group of professionals representing both the private and public sector. Topics covered include gas, soil, surface water and groundwater affected by contamination.

The aims of the Forum are to:

- promote and share best practice
- provide technical updates
- encourage dialogue and
- develop partnerships.

Cost: Attendance is free of charge.
