

Young healthy males needed for research

4% of the population are affected by Attention Deficit and Hyperactivity. In Autism that number rises to 25%. We would like to know why.

Can you help?

We are looking for healthy right-handed young males aged 21-25 years, native English speakers, without diagnoses of Autism or ADHD, to take part as control participants in our study.

You cannot take part if you: suffer from substance abuse, have epilepsy, have had head injury resulting in loss of consciousness, have learning disability, or have history of psychiatric illness.

This 6-6.5 hour study can be completed in one day, or more if preferred. You will be given £50 at the end of the study. Lunch and travel expenses will be reimbursed.

Email us at snap@kcl.ac.uk with ADHD Study on the subject heading, or call us on 020 7848 0469 to speak to our research team.
