

ARC Annual Conference - Cardiff, 17 September 2014

How can you enable your team to promote progression, inclusion, choice, participation and independence in everyday activities at home and in the community?

Join us at our Annual Conference, Active Support - Creating an Ordinary Life showcasing the Department of Health funded project.

Taking part in the day will be Christine Rose, ARC's lead in Active Support as well as Dr Edwin Jones, Prof Kathy Lowe and Dr Sandy Toogood who are all experts in their field and early pioneers of Active Support, plus Paul McWade, Operational Director (Adult Social Care) at Halton Borough Council, and Paul Griffiths, Personal Development Consultant.

In addition, you will also hear from ARC Members, Edward Lloyd Trust, Martha Trust and Robert Owen Communities, who took part in the DH project and how this has impacted on their organisations.

The conference will cover:

- active support enabling people with learning disability and autism to have an ordinary life
- active support and people with dementia
- outcomes monitoring
- active support interactive training
- active support for people whose behaviour can sometimes challenge services
- staff personal development

This will be an opportunity to network with providers from across the sector and exchange ideas and approaches to practice, and ask questions of the expert panel.

Book now!

ARC Members: £69 Non-members: £89

Download the booking form or click here to book your place online.

For further information about the conference or our Active Support service and training please contact: Christine Rose christine.rose@arcuk.org.uk • Tel: 07917 523778

Creating an Ordinary Life project is funded by the Department of Health