

Environmental/Social Researcher or Consultant

(6 months initially)

Based London SE1

Collingwood Environmental Planning is a small multi-disciplinary consultancy providing innovative approaches to environmental, social and sustainability practice and research.

We are seeking a Researcher or Consultant to provide wide-ranging support to our team.

Candidates will need demonstrable enthusiasm for the work we undertake and a strong relevant academic record (Master's level degree or equivalent research record). They will also have skills and experience in one or more of the following areas:

- Social research, including qualitative and quantitative methods
- Climate change adaptation
- Impact assessment (e.g. environmental, social, health) and policy evaluation
- Water management (flood, resources)
- Natural environment, including ecosystem services
- Stakeholder engagement and participation
- Environmental policy analysis and legislation at UK and EU levels.

Examples of the work will include: conducting research, organising workshops/meetings, supporting the preparation of tenders and reports, and undertaking project-related administration.

Excellent communication skills, both written and verbal, will be a prerequisite along with the ability to adapt to new challenges. To be appointed at Consultant level, the candidate will have at least 18 months relevant work experience.

See our website for further details of our work www.cep.co.uk.
