

EuroLabFocus News

The 3rd EFLM-UEMS Congress

Laboratory Medicine at the Clinical Interface

The Association for Clinical Biochemistry &
Laboratory Medicine
www.acb.org.uk

Liverpool, UK • 7-10 October 2014

Issue 16 • September 2014

EuroLabFocus Fringe

Pan Am Bar, Albert Dock Wednesday 8th October 2014 from 21:00 until late

Want to see some ageing (but still aspiring) rockers and their bands at this annual ACB institution?

Leading off at 21:30 we welcome Steve Goodall's 'Kinda Blue' (blues, rhythm & blues, rock & roll). From 22:15 onwards see Ian Watson in a different light on the drums with 'Et Al' – rumour has it they do rhythm (as well as) blues, rock and pop.

Get something to eat after the Lab Tests Online celebration in the conference exhibition hall and then come and join us at the Pan Am Bar's 'Deli Room' – a five minute walk from the Convention Centre. It's free entry for up to 250 people with a bar open until midnight. Steve (stephen.goodall@bthft.nhs.uk) and Ian (iandwat@me.com) are happy to hear from anyone who would like to join their bands on stage. Dress: informal.

The evening will be a tribute to the Fringe's instigator Professor Rick Jones, chemical pathologist in Leeds, who sadly died earlier this year. His vision in 1999 was an informal evening with opportunities for delegates to join the bands in song or on instrument. It's been a packed event ever since!

Top to bottom: Steve Goodall and company; Ian Watson; Rick Jones.

Organisers

UEMS Union of European Medical Specialists
EFLM European Federation of Clinical Chemistry & Laboratory Medicine
ACB Association for Clinical Biochemistry and Laboratory Medicine

Issued by EuroLabFocus Organising Committee
Tel: +44 (0) 141 945 6880

Just one week to go until Early Bird
Registration ends on 8th September!

Register now for 1 day,
2 days or all week on a
one-stop visit to:
www.eurolabfocus2014.org

See the full programme at:
www.eurolabfocus2014.org

@EuroLabFocus

We are grateful to the following for their support for this conference:

Commercial Partners:

