

West Indians at the Panama Canal

2014 marks the 100th anniversary of the official opening of the Panama Canal. Windrush Foundation will hold another commemorative event at 6.30pm on Tuesday 28 October 2014

City Hall, Greater London Assembly, The Queen's Walk, London, SE1 2AA

The Panama Canal, considered an engineering wonder of the world, has long been touted as an American achievement. Yet, without the sweat and blood of thousands of workers from the West Indies, the canal could not have been built. More than 50,000 Barbadians, Jamaicans, and other colonial subjects worked on the project, and very many died.

All are INVITED to a Presentation by Vasco Stevenson
