

EUI Doctoral Programme

The European University Institute is now accepting applications for its PhD programmes in Economics, History and Civilization, Law, and Political and Social Sciences. 160 grants are available for PhD researchers starting in September 2015. All PhDs are fully funded through grants available mainly for EU residents.

With forty years of experience in international postgraduate education, the EUI offers one of Europe's most distinguished doctoral programmes. The EUI is a small, vibrant and interdisciplinary intellectual community. Its low researcher/faculty ratio, world class research facilities and supportive academic environment enable nearly all doctoral researchers to submit their dissertation within five years. Our graduates go on to pursue successful careers in universities, research, national and European institutions and international organisations.

You will find complete information on the programmes, eligibility requirements, application procedure and deadlines at www.eui.eu/Phd.

Please consider forwarding this information to potential applicants.

The application deadline is 31 January 2015.

www.eui.eu

EUI Doctoral Programme in Political and Social Sciences

The European University Institute is now accepting applications for its PhD programme in Political and Social Sciences. This four-year doctoral programme covers political science, sociology, international relations and social and political theory. The Department of Political and Social Sciences (SPS) at the EUI is regularly ranked among the very top departments in political and social sciences in Europe and is strongly connected, through exchange programmes and joint research endeavours, with numerous universities beyond the confines of Europe. All PhDs are fully funded through grants available mainly for EU residents.

With forty years of experience in international postgraduate education, the EUI offers one of Europe's most distinguished doctoral programmes. The EUI is a small, vibrant and interdisciplinary intellectual community. Its low researcher/faculty ratio, world class research facilities and supportive academic environment enable nearly all doctoral researchers to submit their dissertation within five years. Our graduates go on to pursue successful careers in universities, research, national and European institutions and international organisations.

You will find complete information on the programmes, eligibility requirements, application procedure and deadlines at www.eui.eu/Phd.

Please consider forwarding this information to potential applicants.

The application deadline is 31 January 2015.

www.eui.eu

EUI Doctoral Programme in Economics

The European University Institute is now accepting applications for its PhD programme in Economics. Teaching in the four-year doctoral programme is based on formal high-level coursework in the core areas of microeconomics, macroeconomics and econometrics. The EUI Economics Department (ECO) brings together top scholars from all over the world and aims at producing the future generation of economists working in academia and in the public and private sector, mostly in Europe but also world-wide. All PhDs are fully funded through grants available mainly for EU residents.

With forty years of experience in international postgraduate education, the EUI offers one of Europe's most distinguished doctoral programmes. The EUI is a small, vibrant and interdisciplinary intellectual community. Its low researcher/faculty ratio, world class research facilities and supportive academic environment enable nearly all doctoral researchers to submit their dissertation within five years. Our graduates go on to pursue successful careers in universities, research, national and European institutions and international organisations.

You will find complete information on the programmes, eligibility requirements, application procedure and deadlines at www.eui.eu/Phd.

Please consider forwarding this information to potential applicants.

The application deadline is 31 January 2015.

www.eui.eu

EUI Doctoral Programme in Law

The European University Institute is now accepting applications for its PhD programme in Law. The Law Department offers a four-year highly structured programme of research and training leading to the award of a doctorate. An LLM degree is awarded after the successful completion of the first year. International and European Law are the strongest elements in the department's programme, which has long offered specialisations in Constitutional Law; International Economic Law; Human Rights Law; Competition, Labour and Social Law; Legal Informatics; Legal Theory and Philosophy; and European and Transnational Private Law. All PhDs are fully funded through grants available mainly for EU residents.

With forty years of experience in international postgraduate education, the EUI offers one of Europe's most distinguished doctoral programmes. The EUI is a small, vibrant and interdisciplinary intellectual community. Its low researcher/faculty ratio, world class research facilities and supportive academic environment enable nearly all doctoral researchers to submit their dissertation within five years. Our graduates go on to pursue successful careers in universities, research, national and European institutions and international organisations.

You will find complete information on the programmes, eligibility requirements, application procedure and deadlines at www.eui.eu/Phd.

Please consider forwarding this information to potential applicants.

The application deadline is 31 January 2015.

www.eui.eu

EUI Doctoral Programme in History and Civilization

The European University Institute is now accepting applications for its four-year PhD programme in History and Civilization (HEC). The HEC Department focuses on transnational and comparative European history. Transcending national paradigms, it studies the construction of Europe's boundaries; the interlinking of European societies since the Renaissance; the cultural legacies that have shaped contemporary Europe; the place of Europe in the world through the study of empires, global processes and institutions. All PhDs are fully funded through grants available mainly for EU residents.

With forty years of experience in international postgraduate education, the EUI offers one of Europe's most distinguished doctoral programmes. The EUI is a small, vibrant and interdisciplinary intellectual community. Its low researcher/faculty ratio, world class research facilities and supportive academic environment enable nearly all doctoral researchers to submit their dissertation within five years. Our graduates go on to pursue successful careers in universities, research, national and European institutions and international organisations.

You will find complete information on the programmes, eligibility requirements, application procedure and deadlines at www.eui.eu/Phd.

Please consider forwarding this information to potential applicants.

The application deadline is 31 January 2015.

www.eui.eu