

CITY UNIVERSITY
LONDON

The British Sociological Association, City University and the Journal: Work, employment and society and are proud to launch:

The Rosemary Crompton Memorial Lecture Series

Professor Erik Olin Wright, University of Wisconsin-Madison, an expert on class inequalities, will give the inaugural lecture on Friday the 20th of March 2015 at 5.30pm.

Venue: Oliver Thompson Lecture Theatre, Tait Building, Northampton Square, London, EC1V 0HB.

Professor Rosemary Crompton was a pioneering sociologist. Her insights into class and gender inequalities produced a large body of work which continue to have resonance today. After Rosemary's premature death in 2012 the Academic community sought to perpetuate her memory by holding an Annual Rosemary Crompton memorial lecture. The lecture series is organised around the key themes of her work: gender, class and employment.

Registration open

The Rosemary Crompton memorial Lecture Series is a public event and is open to all. However, we do ask attendees to register online:

Please select on the 'Rosemary Crompton Lecture Fund' from the pull-down menu.

Speed Dating Master Class

We are also delighted to report that Erik Olin Wright will be hosting a 'Speed Dating Master Class' at City University London for graduate students on the afternoon of the 19th of March. This is a unique opportunity to engage in some academic brain storming on key issues/puzzles in your research with Professor Olin Wright. Students in attendance will need to be present for the entire event – 2-3 hours. More details about the applications process online: <http://www.city.ac.uk/events/2015/march/speed-dating-master-class-for-sociology-graduate-students>
