

The Institute for — DIGITAL —
ARCHAEOLOGY

The Institute for Digital Archaeology
Invites you to attend the IDA Inaugural Conference

Digital Imaging in Archaeology

Saturday May 30 & Sunday May 31st, 2015
Ioannou Centre for Classical and Byzantine Studies
66 St. Giles
Oxford, OX1 3LU

To register, please email

erin@digitalarchaeology.org.uk

Please note the conference is free of charge

Presentations to include . . .

Benjamin Althsuler, Centre for the Study of Ancient Documents
The Importance of Digital Archaeology in Cultural Heritage Preservation

Frederick Baker, University of Cambridge
Pitoti: Digital Rock-art from Ancient Europe

Rebecca Benefiel, Washington and Lee University
Digital Archaeology and The Graffiti of Herculaneum

Francesco D’Aiuto, Università Degli Studi Di Roma Tor Vergata
Imaging the Menander Palimpsest

Alexy Karenowska, University of Oxford
Magnetism in the Hellenistic Age

Thomas Mannack, The Classical Art Research Centre & The Beazley Archive
Digital resources and techniques for the study of Greek Pottery, A historical overview

Roger Michel, The Institute for Digital Archaeology
The Greek Aldines

And keynote

Nigel Wilson

Applications of the New Technology in the Related Discipline of Palaeography