

Malcolm X Study Circle

Why we need Black nationalism

The political legacy of Malcolm X

Thursday 17th September, 6.30pm

Curzon, Birmingham City University Curzon St, B4 7XG

Near Millennium Point

As part of Year X, we are running a series of study circles to discuss some of Malcolm X's key ideas. If you are interested in learning more about one of the most misunderstood figures of the 20th century then come along to these free discussions.

When Malcolm X was assassinated he was building the Organisation of Afro American Unity. His political legacy has been hijacked, but at the end he was 'a Black nationalist freedom fighter'. In this session we will discuss what this politics means and the how OBU is continuing in the legacy of Malcolm X.

Event is free and all are welcome.

ORGANISATION OF BLACK UNITY
www.blackunity.org.uk

 www.blackunity.org.uk

 info@blackunity.org.uk

 OBU, Organisation of Black Unity