About the book

Ageing populations are a major consideration for socio-economic development in the early 21st century. This demographic change is mainly seen as a threat rather than as an opportunity to improve the quality of human life. Ageing population is taking place in every continent of the world with Europe in the least favourable situation due to its ageing population and reduction in economic competitiveness.

Economic Foundations for Creative Ageing Policy offers public policy ideas to construct positive answers for ageing populations. This exciting new volume searches for economic solutions that can enable effective social policy concerning the elderly. Klimczuk covers theoretical analysis and case study descriptions of good practices, to suggest strategies that could be internationally popularised.
