An enlightening debate through literature and art on smuggling as an idiom for contemporary issues on migration, smuggling of ideas, spices, and laws, crime, culture and enslavement. These social and cultural determinants all impact on mental health and illness, and wellbeing.

Speaker:

Dr Simon Harvey

Associate Professor and co-course coordinator in the programme
Trondheim Academy of Fine Art (KIT)

Professor Harvey's research interests include: mapping in artistic practices; counter-cartographies; alternative tourisms; smuggling and visual culture; rhythm and contemporary art; and art and public space.

Video presentation:

Dr Ergin Çavuşoğlu

Professor of Contemporary Art
Middlesex University

Professor Cavusoglu studied at The National School of Fine Arts 'Iliya Petrov', Sofia in the early 1980s. He consequently received a BA from the University of Marmara, Istanbul, MA from Goldsmiths, University of London, and a PhD from University of Portsmouth.
