

Giovanna Marconi is Assistant Professor, Department of Design & Planning in Complex Environments, University Iuav of Venice, where she also holds the position of Researcher, SSIIM UNESCO Chair on the Social and Spatial Inclusion of International Migrants. She has a PhD in Urban Planning and Public Policies. Her research focus is on south-to-south international migration, transit migration and urban inclusion of international migrants. She has collaborated on a number of international research projects relating to these issues and has published widely on the urban dimension of international migration.

Elena Ostanel is Research Fellow, University Iuav of Venice, based at the SSIIM UNESCO Chair on the Social and Spatial Inclusion of International Migrants. She is also Research Fellow at the Open University. She holds a PhD in Urban and Regional Planning. Her past research has focused mainly on policy analysis in the city of difference, involving the EFI-UE funded project 'Mediare.com' and the Project of National Interest (PRIN) 'Small-size cities and social cohesion: the social and spatial inclusion of international migrants'. She is now researching on social innovation and urban regeneration in deprived neighbourhoods.

THE INTERCULTURAL CITY

Migration, Minorities and the Management of Diversity
Giovanna Marconi
Elena Ostanel

LONDON · NEW YORK
www.ibtauris.com

THE INTERCULTURAL CITY

Migration, Minorities and the Management of Diversity

I.B. TAURIS

Edited by Giovanna Marconi and Elena Ostanel

Cities around the world are facing increasingly diverse populations as a result of migration, both from rural areas within their own national borders and from other countries. The resulting cultural differences can create problems and conflict. In Europe alone, the sheer scale of migration is forcing the issue to the top of the political agenda. Yet cities that are able to manage diversity successfully can benefit from the potential of migrants and minorities for entrepreneurship and innovation.

The Intercultural City brings together scholars from a range of disciplines – including urban studies, geography, planning, sociology, political science and spatial design – to explore both the failings of existing policies to manage diversity and to examine how one might begin to create appropriate governance structures to remove obstacles and enhance the integration of migrants and minorities. Combining fresh theoretical insights with studies from cities in Europe, North America, Asia and Africa, The Intercultural City offers a timely and important contribution to the challenge of managing diversity in the city of the twenty-first century in a period when the issue of migration has been thrust to the forefront of international attention.

Front: Immigrants on strike for human and civil rights at Neptune Square on 1 March 2010 in Bologna, Italy (Photo by Roberto Serra: Iguana Press/Getty Images).
Back: Milan map by Murat Aydin, Turkey.

CONTENTS

List of Figures	ix
List of Tables	x
Introduction The Intercultural City: Exploring an Elusive Idea Giovanna Marconi	1
Part I A Critical Analysis Of The Intercultural City Framework
1. Contemporary Urban Space and the Intercultural City Marcello Balbo	25
2. Urban Policies and the Intercultural City: A Reflection on Norms and Contexts Ruth Fincher	39
3. Policy Dimensions of an Intercultural City Kseniya Khovanova-Rubicondo	54
Part II Intercultural Cities? Evidence From Practice
4. The Means and Meaning of Interculturalism in Africa's Urban Age Loren B. Landau	65
5. New Religious Spaces of Difference: Resources and Risks in the New Italian Religious Landscape Adriano Cancellieri	79
6. The Up-rooted City: Migrants Mapping Milan Nausicaa Pezzoni	89

7. Diversity and Interculturalism: A Critique and Defence. Going through Multi-ethnic Neighbourhoods in Rome Marco Cremaschi and Carlotta Fioretti	109
8. Intercultural Public Space and Activism: Learning from Toronto Michail Galanakis	122
9. Parent Café: A Right Way for Schools to Become a Truly Multicultural Space? Alexei Medvedev	137
10. Creating Meaningful Contact: Boundaries and Bridges in the Intercultural City Gill Valentine and Lucy Mayblin	153
11. Cultural Policy in Singapore: Cosmopolitan Competencies Asian Style Peggy Levitt	163
Conclusion: Toward a Just Intercultural City Space Elena Ostanel	176
Bibliography	188
Contributors	205
Index	209