

Position Announcement

MASSACHUSETTS, WORCESTER 01610.

Clark University. Assistant Professor, starting August 2017. Clark's Graduate School of Geography seeks to fill a tenure track position in the Geographies of Racial, Ethnic and Gender Justice. Successful candidates will contribute to cutting edge scholarship and show demonstrated commitment to collaborative research and securing extramural funding. Strong undergraduate and graduate teaching, advising, and mentoring are a requisite, and we are particularly interested in candidates who link research, pedagogy and engagement beyond the academy. The Graduate School of Geography is committed to mentoring junior faculty. The successful candidate will also contribute to the newly created Center for Gender, Race and Areas Studies, which is made up of majors and concentrations in Africana Studies, Asian Studies, Latin American and Latino Studies, Peace Studies, Race and Ethnic Relations, and Women and Gender Studies. Opportunities exist for collaborative research with the George Perkins Marsh Institute (<http://www.clarku.edu/departments/marsh/>), Mosakowski Institute (<http://www.clarku.edu/research/mosakowskiinstitute/>) and Strassler Center for Holocaust and Genocide Studies (<http://www.clarku.edu/departments/holocaust/>).

PhD required at time of appointment. Send CV, a detailed statement of professional experience, research and teaching interests; and contact information for three references by email to: JusticeSearch@clarku.edu. For full consideration, application materials should be submitted no later than October 15, 2016. We are an affirmative action/equal employment opportunity university and we strongly encourage members from historically underrepresented communities, which is inclusive of all women, to apply.
