

Volunteer Garden Explainer opportunity Royal Botanic Gardens, Kew

Find out about joining our Volunteer Garden Explainer team

The Royal Botanic Gardens, Kew is a global resource for plant and fungal knowledge. We have one of the largest and most diverse collections of plant and fungal specimens (living and preserved) in the world. The site is over three hundred acres and contains glasshouses, historic buildings and world class collections. It is a major London visitor attraction, receiving over one million visitors each year.

You will join a friendly team and receive training in public engagement skills as well as the science, history and horticulture of Kew Gardens.

We are looking for people from all walks of life who are enthusiastic about the stories of Kew and passionate about engaging people of all ages in learning, nature and science.

Applications to be received by 16th January 2017.

You need to be available for:

- The recruitment days on either Saturday 21st January or Wednesday 1st February 2017.
- Subsequent Training and Induction days taking place in February 2017

For further details and an application form go to <http://bit.ly/2gliNWR>

For further details please contact: Julia Shelley, Family Learning coordinator j.shelley@kew.org

Kew is committed to safeguarding and promoting the welfare of children and vulnerable adults and expects all staff and volunteers to share this commitment.

A satisfactory Enhanced DBS check will be required for this role and successful volunteers will be asked to undertake this check.