

The 2017 International Conference on Security and Management Las Vegas, USA, July 17 - 20

Session/ Workshop Organization

The 2017 International Conference on Security and Management (SAM'17) is the 16th annual comprehensive security conference dealing with all aspects of security. This annual Security and Management Conference is a leading international opportunity for computer and network security professionals and users to investigate innovative ideas and outcomes, and to exchange experiences on various aspects of information security.

There are nine tracks in this conference; Cryptographic Technologies, Security Applications, Information Assurance, Network Security, Hardware Security, Computer Security, Security management, Security Education, and Biometrics and Forensics. For details of the tracks, please refer to the conference website at <http://sam.udmercy.edu/sam17>.

You are invited to submit a proposal to organize a session or a workshop. Each technical session will have at least 6 paper presentations from different authors (12 papers in the case of workshop). The session/workshop chairs will be responsible for all aspects of their sessions/workshop; including, soliciting, reviewing, and selecting papers. The names of session/workshop chairs will appear as Associate Editors in the conference proceedings and on the cover of the books. Proposers may submit more than one session/workshop proposal.

Proposals to organize technical sessions/workshops should include the following information:

- Name, address, E-mail of proposer in addition to his/her biography.
- Title of session/workshop.
- A 100-word description of the session/workshop.
- A short description of the process for reviewing and selecting papers.
- A short description on how the session/workshop will be advertised (in most cases, session/workshop proposers solicit papers from colleagues and researchers whose work is known to the session proposer).

Email your session/workshop proposal to the Sessions/Workshops Co-chairs, Flaminia Luccio (luccio@unive.it) or Shadi Banitaan (banitash@udmercy.edu). The deadline for proposals is February 7, 2017. We would like to receive the session/workshop proposals as soon as possible.
